Summary

When you use our services, you're trusting us with your information. Privacy Checkup

Looking to change your privacy settings? We use a variety of tools to do this, including Google Analytics. We use different technologies to process your information for these purposes. We also use algorithms to recognize patterns in data. This helps people identify an email coming from you, for example. We'll ask for your consent before using your information for a purpose that isn't covered in this Privacy Policy. You have choices regarding the information we collect and how it's used. You can browse by date and by topic, and delete part or all of your activity. We'll ask for your explicit consent to share any sensitive personal information. Detect, prevent, or otherwise address fraud, security, or technical issues. We build security into our services to protect your information. You can manage these settings in your Google Account. Privacy Checkup guides you through key privacy settings for your Google Account.

Potential Red Flags & Points of Importance

1. This means that we process your information for things like:

Providing, maintaining, and improving our services to meet the needs of our users

Developing new products and features that are useful for our users

Understanding how people use our services to ensure and improve the performance of our services

Customizing our services to provide you with a better user experience

Marketing to inform users about our services

Providing advertising, which keeps many of our services free (and when ads are personalized, we ask for your consent)

Detecting, preventing, or otherwise addressing fraud, abuse, security, or technical issues with our services

Protecting against harm to the rights, property or safety of Google, our users, or the public as required or permitted by law, including disclosing information to government authorities

Performing research that improves our services for our users and benefits the public

Fulfilling obligations to our partners like developers and rights holders

Enforcing legal claims, including investigation of potential violations of applicable Terms of Service

When we're providing a service

We process your data to provide a service you've asked for under a contract.

2. We'll process your data when we have a legal obligation to do so, for example, if we're responding to legal process or an enforceable governmental request.
